About Outward Bound
Outward Bound, founded in 1941 by educator Kurt Hahn, is a non-profit educational organization that serves people of all ages and backgrounds through challenging learning expeditions that focus on character development, leadership and service. Outward Bound helps individuals and teams discover strength of character and an aptitude for leadership needed to serve others in their community and care for the world around them. Classic Expeditions
Outward Bound has been changing lives through challenge and discovery for more than 50 years by using the wilderness as a classroom to provide unparalleled opportunities for discovery, personal growth, self-reliance, teamwork and compassion. Classic expeditions require participants to dig deep and discover hidden strengths they didn’t know they had, while gaining the confidence they need to succeed. Courses are available year-round at locations across the country. Courses range from one day, in-school programs to three months long expeditions. The average program lasts for 15 days, with challenging activities include backpacking, canyoneering, canoeing, dog sledding, mountaineering, whitewater rafting, rock climbing, sailing, sea kayaking, skiing and snowboarding. Each student also participates in a “solo” portion of their course where they can be alone to reflect on their journey. Many students find the “solo” to be the highlight of their experience and after course students report higher levels of confidence, self-esteem and teamwork skills; three times higher then they report before they embark on this life changing educational journey.

Semester Courses
Outward Bound semester courses are the ideal alternative for college-age students looking for something beyond the traditional classroom environment, and for those who want to learn by doing. No other Outward Bound experience is as in-depth, absorbing and comprehensive as our semester courses. Taking students to domestic and international locales including Colorado, Utah, California, Minnesota, North Carolina, Florida, Costa Rica, Ecuador, Patagonia and Guatemala, these 30-day to 85-day courses are unique opportunities to gain real wilderness skills and develop life skills in decision making, problem solving, leadership and teamwork. With activities as varied as the world we inhabit, you will raft, sail, rock climb, dog sled, kayak, hike and push forward with your team as you form bonds and friendships that will last a lifetime.

Intercept
Outward Bound offers their award-winning Intercept courses for struggling and at-risk youth beginning to demonstrate destructive behaviors. Intercept helps youth, ages 12- 22, connect their desire for more freedom and independence with the reality that they must take on the responsibility that comes with that freedom. Intercept courses are designed to replace the often negative challenges of the teen years with extremely positive ones. The group expedition in “unfamiliar territory” instills confidence and strength and helps teens develop new perspectives and skills for dealing with the transition to adulthood. With a focus on increasing self-awareness, communication and goal-setting, students return home from their expedition having further developed the values and skills needed to create and maintain a healthier self-image, trustworthy relationships and productive life skills. Parents and guardians join us for the last three days of the program in a pivotal and productive workshop with instructors and students.

Grieving Teens
Outward Bound for Grieving Teens is a special program from Outward Bound that takes grieving teens and young adults on our outdoor wilderness expeditions. Thanks to our donors, all participants receive reduced tuition. By combining personal growth methodologies of Outward Bound, with a simple support model that honors the griever, Outward Bound is able to deliver an intensely profound healing experience relevant to the lives of people who are coping with the death of a loved one.

Veterans Programs
Fully funded by generous donors, Outward Bound helps thousands of returning service members and military veterans readjust to life at home through the healing power of the wilderness and by reinforcing the gratification, confidence and self-worth that comes with working within a group. These courses build the skills necessary to successfully return to life after wartime service.

Special Groups and Populations
Wilderness courses are offered for special populations such as youth (ages 12-13), family (parent/child duo or trio), adults (30+ and 55+) and single-gender groups. Each course is designed to fit the specific needs of the population, including considerations for the length, time of year, appropriate activities, specific course elements and instructor training. Courses for special populations provide unique opportunities to develop teamwork, leadership and life skills.
